Henderson County Employee Wins State-wide Award to attend National Conference

October 2, 2008 – Henderson County, NC: Henderson County Risk Manager Yvonne Moebis was recently chosen to receive a $2,500 scholarship given by the North Carolina Association of County Commissioners, to cover estimated expenses to attend a national conference on risk management.

The Frank Bonner Scholarship will pay for Ms. Moebis's attendance at the Public Risk Management Association Institute October 20-23 in San Antonio. The scholarship is presented in honor of Mr. Bonner, a longtime Beaufort County commissioner who was instrumental in establishing the Risk Management Pools. Ms. Moebis is the only person in the state to receive this award scholarship.

Ms. Moebis has been employed with Henderson County for three years and has brought a high level of professionalism to the County's risk management programs.

"I am really honored," Ms. Moebis said. "I want to learn more to broaden my knowledge so that I can enhance our County's risk management practices and implement the latest techniques for improving the health and safety of Henderson County employees and citizens."

"This training will truly benefit Henderson County employees and Henderson County taxpayers," Ms. Moebis said.
