FOR IMMEDIATE RELEASE

Library Centennial Concert Series Presents Ed Snodderly

HC-2014-19

Hendersonville, NC – Wednesday, April 23, 2014

On Thursday, May 8th at 6:30 p.m. Ed Snodderly will perform as part of the Centennial Concert Series. The concert will be held in the Kaplan Auditorium at the main branch of the Henderson County Public Library (301 N. Washington Street, Hendersonville). Doors open 30 minutes prior to the performance. Thanks to the sponsorship from the Friends of the Library, this event is free and open to the public.

Ed Snodderly is a well-respected musician, songwriter, actor, and co-owner of one of the country's longest running music venues, The Down Home, in Johnson City, Tennessee. In addition to recording several albums, both as a part of the bluegrass duo Brother Boys and as a solo artist, his fiddling took center stage when he played the character of the village idiot in the film "O Brother, Where Art Thou?"
